

REPSOL'S HEADQUARTERS , MADRID, SPAIN

REPSOL'S HEADQUARTERS, MADRID

Client:	Repsol-YPF
Architect	Foster & Partners
Date:	2003-2005
	Above ground 56.000 m <sup>2</sup>
Built Area:	Below ground 33.000 m <sup>2</sup>
Construction Budget:	180 M €
Services provided:	Technical Assistance during Design and Site Supervision

A Skyscraper with 248 m. high designed by Norman Foster. Is located in one of the most representative business area of Madrid , and together with other three skyscrapers in the area conforms the new "skyline" of Madrid.

The building is raised in a rectangular –formed floor type of offices with a rectilinear perimeter, obtaining maximum modularity of the constructive elements and the economy inherent to repetition of floors in the design of the tower, to generate a flexible and commercially viable building. It's also been looked to obtain an emblematic building with a powerful image, as the representative image of one of the most important petrol companies, REPSOL-YPF.

100.000 m2 built area with a total of 54 floors: 34 offices, 8 technical facilities, 5 water tanks, 5 parking underground floors

